Forward-looking statements disclaimer

This presentation contains forward-looking statements. We intend such forward-looking statements to be covered by the safe harbor provisions for forward-looking statements contained in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements other than statements of historical facts contained in this presentation may be forward-looking statements. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as “may,” “will,” “should,” “expects,” “plans,” “anticipates,” “could,” “intends,” “projects,” “contemplates,” “believes,” “estimates,” “forecasts,” “predicts,” “potential” or “continue” or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions. Forward-looking statements contained in this presentation include, but are not limited to, statements regarding our annual and quarterly guidance. The forward-looking statements in this presentation are only predictions. We have based these forward-looking statements largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that we believe may affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements, including but not limited to the following: our dependence on business formations; our dependence on customers expanding the use of our platform, including our transactional customers converting to subscribers and our subscribers renewing their subscriptions with us; the impact of macroeconomic challenges or uncertainty on our business; our ability to remain profitable in the future; our ability to provide high-quality products and services, customer care and customer experience; our ability to continue to innovate and provide a platform that is useful to our customers and that meets our customers’ expectations; the competitive legal solutions market; our dependence on our brand and reputation; our ability to maintain and expand strategic relationships with third parties; our ability to hire and retain top talent and motivate our employees; risks and costs associated with complex and evolving laws and regulations; our ability to maintain effective internal control over financial reporting; and other factors discussed in the section titled “Risk Factors” included in our most recently filed Annual Report on Form 10-K or Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q as well as any factors in our subsequent filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The forward-looking statements in this presentation are based upon information available to us as of the date of this presentation, and while we believe such information forms a reasonable basis for such statements, such information may be limited or incomplete, and our statements should not be read to indicate that we have conducted an exhaustive inquiry into, or review of, all potentially available relevant information. These statements are inherently uncertain and investors are cautioned not to unduly rely upon these statements.

You should read this presentation with the understanding that our actual future results, levels of activity, performance and achievements may be materially different from what we expect. We qualify all of our forward-looking statements by these cautionary statements. Except as required by applicable law, we do not plan to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements contained in this presentation, whether as a result of any new information, future events or otherwise.

About non-GAAP financial measures

This presentation includes certain non-GAAP financial measures including Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted EBITDA margin, non-GAAP net income (loss), non-GAAP net income (loss) margin, non-GAAP gross profit, non-GAAP gross profit margin, certain non-GAAP expenses (including non-GAAP cost of revenue, non-GAAP sales and marketing, non-GAAP technology and development, and non-GAAP general and administrative), non-GAAP organic revenue, free cash flow and free cash flow margin. We use these non-GAAP financial measures to better understand and evaluate our core operating performance. We believe that these non-GAAP financial measures provide investors with useful information about our financial performance and liquidity, enhance the overall understanding of our past performance and future prospects and allow for greater transparency with respect to important measures used by our management for financial and operational decision-making. We also believe that these measures provide an additional tool for investors to use in comparing our core financial performance over multiple periods with other companies in our industry. These non-GAAP measures should not be considered in isolation of, or as a substitute or an alternative to, measures prepared and presented in accordance with GAAP. The tables in the Appendix contain more details on the GAAP financial measures that are most directly comparable to non-GAAP financial measures and the related reconciliations between these financial measures. In addition, please see our earnings release and our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission for the definitions of certain of these non-GAAP financial measures and limitations on the use of such non-GAAP financial measures.

Third party information

This presentation includes market data and certain other statistical information and estimates that are based on reports and other publications from independent third-party sources, as well as management's own good faith estimates and analyses. We believe these third-party reports to be reputable, but have not independently verified the underlying data sources, methodologies, or assumptions. The reports and other publications referenced are generally available to the public and were not commissioned by LegalZoom. Information that is based on estimates, forecasts, projections, market research, or similar methodologies is inherently subject to uncertainties, and actual events or circumstances may differ materially from events and circumstances reflected in this information.

Subscription KPIs
1,545K	1,766K	1,939K
$277	$263	$266

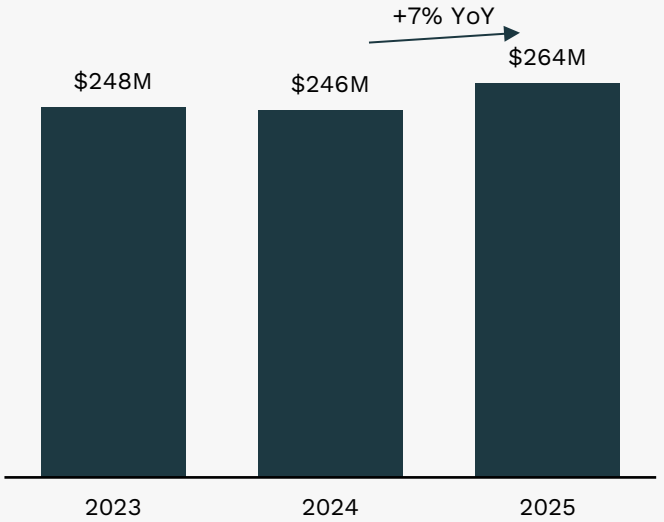

(1) We define the number of subscription units in a given period as the paid subscriptions that remain active at the end of such period, including those that are not yet 60 days past their subscription order dates. Refunds, or partial refunds, may be issued under certain circumstances pursuant to the terms of our customer satisfaction guarantee. (2) We define average revenue per subscription unit, or ARPU, as of a given date as subscription revenue for the 12-month period ended on such date, or LTM, divided by the average number of subscription units at the beginning and end of the LTM period.

Transaction revenue

Transaction revenue is primarily generated from business formations services as well as other small business and consumer transactions including annual reports and filing fees, trademark filings, and estate planning solutions.

FY 2026 Guidance Commentary

Revenue growth of approximately 6% YoY

- Reiterating midpoint of FY 2026 revenue guidance
- Scaling of higher-value growth initiatives and continued momentum in partner channel
- Partially offset by continued pressure in customer acquisition for the remainder of the year

Adj. EBITDA growth of approximately 6% YoY

- Ongoing gross margin improvement through disciplined cost management and AI driven efficiencies
- Outlook includes continued investment in channel diversification, higher costs in paid customer acquisition channels, investment in higher-value expert services, as well as seasonal investment in sales capabilities ahead of the first quarter peak in business formations.

(1) This is a non-GAAP financial measure. The Company has not reconciled this forward-looking non-GAAP measure to the most comparable GAAP measure because it is unable to provide a meaningful calculation or estimation of reconciling items and the information is not available without unreasonable effort. This is due to the inherent difficulty of forecasting the timing or amount of various items that would impact the most directly comparable forward-looking GAAP financial measure that have not yet occurred, are out of the Company's control and/or cannot be reasonably predicted.

(1) We define non-GAAP gross profit as gross profit adjusted to exclude amortization of acquired intangible assets from our business combinations, non-cash stock-based compensation expense, and other non-recurring expenses associated with our cost of revenue. Our non-GAAP gross profit financial measure differs from GAAP in that it excludes certain items of income and expense. We define gross profit margin as gross profit as a percentage of revenue. We define non-GAAP gross profit margin as non-GAAP gross profit as a percentage of revenue.
